Salvation, maybe

Psalm 118, Bad News Revised Version (BNRV)

<sup>10</sup> give thanks unto the LORD; for he is as good to me as I am to him; his mercy endures for as long as my faith does!

<sup>14</sup> The LORD shall become my salvation, maybe... <sup>17</sup> If my faith is strong enough, then I shall not die, but live, and declare the works of the LORD, if he does in fact do them. <sup>18</sup> Because he has anger issues, the LORD hath chastened me sore; but if I repent really well, then he might not give me over unto death... <sup>21</sup> I shall praise thee if thou hear me, for thou just might become my salvation after all.

<sup>22</sup> The stone the builders rejected has become one of a handful of pretty important stones!
