

From Issue 4/November 5, 2007

Book Review: God is For Us

In God is For Us, Baxter Kruger tackles a difficulty that many Christians struggle with: the idea that God is partly on our side and partly against us. Most Christians don't realize they are struggling with this issue, but their beliefs about God (their theology) create a tension that does great damage to the soul if left unchecked.

Many Christians believe that the Father's wrath against humanity's sin is the reason for Jesus' incarnation. Without realizing it, their theology sets up a split personality within the Trinity: an angry Father and a forgiving Son. With such a dichotomy many people never truly believe that God is 100% for them and on their side.

Step by step Kruger walks through the scriptures explaining who God really is and how all of him, Father, Son, and Spirit, is totally on our side.

You can find God is For Us at www.perichoresis.org.